Mount Airy, North Carolina VOLUME IX
Nestled at the Ruse

LUNCH HOUR finds students engaged in many activities. Glenda Smith and Jake Cox pause to finish homework.

JOE GRIF FIN, NEW staff photographer, works to become familiar with the press camera he will be using to help picture MAHS life.

BEARS have roamed the mountains that encircle us. Our town, built on a granite foundation, boasts the world's largest open-face quarry. So through the years the Granite Bear has symbolized MAHS--its students, its teams, and its spirit.

and just beginning the climb

THE LATIN BANQUET is fun for students and teachers. Trent Harkrader, Mr. Tharrington, Mr. Finch, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Neal, Miss Haymore, and Jimmy Harris enjoy a Roman evening.

AT CAREER DAY gathering Dr. R. B. C. Franklin, Dr. Ralph Sykes, and Dr. Louis Bolen give Douglas Griffin and Margaret McCann first-hand information on medical careers. Career Day was sponsored by the Mount Airy Rotary Club for seniors.

THE ALL-NORTHWEST CAGE BANQUET is a top occasion for Mike Cook, Coach Shelton, and Judy Shelton. Mike and Judy won positions on the Journal-Sentinel All-Northwest Team. Coach Shelton was special guest of honor--the second prep coach to be recognized for outstanding contributions to basketball in the Northwest area.

RAY RODGERS TAKES histurn at bat against Hanes.
"HAVE A BITE OF MINE," says Carolyn Cruise to Phil Geiger while Linda Love and David Rowe enjoy their pancakes at the music benefit Pancake Supper.

FOREWORD

Circled by the ever changing, ever changeless mountains, we have grownaccustomed to their beauty, protection, inspiration, and source for fun. So has it been with our high school. Both will remain a vital part of us, whatever the future brings.

In this ninth volume of Airmont we have tried to capture for you the people, events, and spirit of these, our years AT THE FOOT OF THE MOUNTAINS.

HALLS SWARM WITH students between classes, before and after school, but echo in the more lonely hours after school when small groups practice or do special work.

Our administration, furnishing necessary facilities, and our faculty, giving both classroom and personal help and guidance, provide the special climate for learning and growing that is MAHS.

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

HIGH SCHOOL OVERFLOWED into three rooms of the extension this year. Having only one inter-com when school started, Mrs. Christian, Miss Haymore, and Mr. Shelton (OPPOSITE PAGE) get together to learn the announcements.

School Administration Faces

"CONGRATULATIONS!" smiles School Board Chairman Robert Smith as he gives a handshake and a diploma to Gail Wright.

AS A PART of the school curriculum study, Mrs. Ben Graves and Mrs. Edmund Burke sort activity sheets to help evaluate our activity program.

Growing school populations make extra problems for administrations as they struggle to secure enough buildings, teachers, equipment. This year the elementary school system changed with the addition of a new plant joining the high school and housing grades seven and eight.

A curriculum-study group of patrons and school personnel continues its examination of the overall school picture.
(TOP) PRINCIPAL H. M. FINCH discusses the day's schedule with office secretary, Mrs. Holyfield.
(RIGHT) SERVING AROUND 650 people daily, Mrs. Speight, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Moxley, and Mrs. Beamer are always busy. Our cafeteria is noted for its excellent food and relaxed atmosphere.

MRS. JOHNSON, secretary to Mr. B. H. Tharrington, is constantly busy with her many duties and services to the Mount Airy school system.

CITY SUPERINTENDENT B. H. Tharrington works on information concerning impending school bond vote.

(BELOW: LEFT) IT WAS BACK TO SCHOOL on National Science Foundation grants for Mrs. McKinny, Mrs. Thomas, and Mr. Woodie, who discuss ideas from their summer at Wake Forest. Mrs. McKinny received a grant for the second consecutive summer.

Four new teachers--Mrs. Irene Christian, Miss Nancy Saunders, Mrs. Delsie Aldridge, Mr. Ivo Wortman--joined the faculty this year. Three are replacements, one an additonal teacher.

NEW TEACHERS MR. WORTMAN, MRS. CHRISTIAN, and MISS SAUNDERS, checking textbooks, decide their students will be well supplied for the coming school term. Books are selected from the book room and distributed by home room.
(RIGHT) MRS. DRAUGHN and MR. LIMER acquaint Mrs. Aldridge (CENTER) with routine in the commercial department. Mrs. Aldridge is a new member of the faculty.

FACULTY MEMBERS ENJOYING food and fellowship at the senior banquet include Mr . Limer, Mrs. Mackie, Mr. Tharrington, Mrs. Tharrington, Mr. Finch, Mrs. Finch, and Mrs. Thomas.

Geachers Join MAHS Faculty

Mrs. Delsie Aldridge: Commercial; Mr. Charles Atkins: Health, civics, coaching; Mrs. Irene Christian: English: Mrs. Geraldine Cloninger: Home economics, F.H.A.; Mrs. Maude Coble: Commercial; Mrs. Maxine Hamilton: Biology, student council; Miss Ada Haymore: Latin, Latin Club; Miss Eva Holder: English, journalism, High Spots; Mr. Charlie Johnson: Chorus, band; Mr. Edmond Limer, Jr.: Commercial; Miss Willie Lou McGee: Math. (Continued on Page 19)

FACULTY MEMBERS BEGIN the day with an office check for announcements and materials. Mrs. Neal, Mrs. Mackie, Mrs. Sydnor, and Mrs. Hamilton discuss plans for the day.

Mighe ctaredaudes, stand Marle, Thelpyal

MR. REED (CENTER) discusses modern students' health with physical education teachers, Coaches Atkins and Moir.

MRS. CLONINGER (RIGHT) observes a home nursing demonstration put on by home economics students Johnnie Mae Ferguson and Mary Helen Pruitt.

A full schedule of classes, enough 'paper" work for a secretary, extra-curricular responsibilities, after school make-ups and individual help for students, practices, ticket sales, meetings, class planning, studying, paper grading-these fill the day (and too often the night) of a teacher.

Our teachers hold us to high standards of behavior and work. With these high standards they maintain an always helpful and friendly attitude-to us and to each other--that makes living and learning at MAHS both pleasant and profitable.

Attitude Charracterize Teachers

MRS. LORRAINE McKINNEY: Chemistry, general science, biology, honor society; MRS. LAVINIA MACKIE: Spanish, history, Spanish club, senior sponsor; MR. SAM MOIR: Health, civics, coaching; MRS. MARY NEAL: English, junior sponsor; MR. ARNOLD RAMEY: History, geography; MR. RAY REED: English, freshman sponsor, senior play, Hi-Y; MISS NANCY SAUNDERS: English, math, speech club.

(CENTER) DIRECTOR CHARLES JOHNSON spends long hours in instruction and practice to produce an effective band. (RIGHT) HOUSE CONSTRUCTION WITH shop classes became so interesting to Mr. Williams that he built an attractive brick duplex during the summer.

Homecoming, Twirp season, ball games, dances, assemblies, plays, concerts, elections, Monday devotions, varied special club projects-these activities that add fun to our class work are eagerly anticipated and long remembered as highlights of our time at MAHS.

A LAST, NOSTALGIC LOOK at summer freedom and fun-then a new school year begins.

MORGAN JOHNSEN, FOREIGN exchange student from Norway, listens attentively as Charles Hennis shows him around the school.

September-A Scar

FOR THE FIRST time the study hall is used for a homeroom. (BELOW) LECTURES AND TESTS are conducted in the crowded chemistry lab. (RIGHT) SENIORS HAROLD WARREN and James Tilley find it hard to get all their books and papers in one locker.

"I WANTED FOURTH PERIOD LUNCH," explains Lucy Robertson to Nelta Woodson, as they discuss schedule changes to be made in the office.

Year Segins

Since we moved into the new high school building in 1951, enrollment has jumped from 468 to 651 . The number of homerooms has increased from 14 to 21 . The high school has expanded into three rooms of the extension. Crowded labs, shared lockers, and a homeroom in study hall, however, are still problems. Overcrowded classes and conflicts swamp the office the first days of school.

FOOTBALL SPICES the fall term with fun and excitement and work. Coach Atkins (CENTER) instructs Bobby Dean and Ronald Dollyhigh during practice session.

Caviety, Snterest To Fall Months

 1959, becomes history.

THE WEEKLY "Y" dance furnishes fun and recreation for many students.

Crisp weather, snow covered mountains in the distance-and sometimes a snow-covered Mount Airy -bring the contrasting warmth of exams, a crowded gymnasium, and help from school patrons.

WITH AIRMONT off to press and exams coming up, Ann Franklin, surrounded by books and notes, prepares for the midterm ordeal.

Exams, Paskethall, Science, Snow

NANCY COX IS the center of attention in the winter snow as Tommy Childress, Jimmy Phillips, and Andy Hennis prepare to snowball her. Snow and school are a rare combination for M.A.H.S.

BUS DRIVERS WHO HEL P students to arrive at school safely and on time in all kinds of weather are Everett Bowman, Johnny Taylor, Ralph Gunnell, Nancy Welch, Jim Fleming, and John Martin.

BASKETBALL ENLIVENS winter months. Morehead's Craig captures a loose ball as Trent Harkrader and Cleve Hamlin try for it in the Group I tournament.

PHILIP STANLEY proudly displays his Science-Fair exhibit to Gaye Tate and Mary Vaughn. Philip received honorable mention for his work on the metamorphosis of coal

PREPARING PANCAKES FOR benefit jamboree in the school cafeteria keeps Mr. W. A. Campbell, Mr. E. F. Moore, Mr. H. V. Morris, and Mr. James Combs busy. Kiwanians donated proceeds to the music department

TOMMY CHILDRESS TAKES advantage of Twirp season by loading Patty Wyche with his books.

CLANK GO THE coins as Debbie Martin and Skip Simmons make their decisions and vote for King and Queen of Hearts.

Twirp season is a break for both boys and girls. Girls can ask boys for dates. Boys can save date money. At the close of Twirp season, court is held and all offenders of Twirp rules are given severe sentences. Climaxing the gala week the annual Sweetheart dance, which features the crowning of M. A. H. S. King and Queen of Hearts, is held.

CARRYING BOOKS IN little red wagons, Twirp season offenders Brenda Burke and Richard Stephens start to class.

Relives Routine

LONG LIVE THE KING and QUEEN of Hearts! Bill Campbell and Pat Carpenter are crowned during intermission at the Sweetheart dance after anxious waiting. Candidates were selected by each class and penny votes were cast

IN THE TWIRP SEASON assembly and trial, "You Goof and We Spoof," correspondent Bobby (Nikita) Dean reports on Russia.

CONCLUSION OF TWIRP season-the Sweetheart dance is enjoyed by Mike Cooke and Sue Carol Beasley.

The  Perfed Idiot Makes Mit

"YOU ARE A HAT RACK," commands Frank Lowry to Tollie Barber in senior play practice, as cast members Dianne Simmons, Ruby Hunter, Scherer James, and Edmund Burke lookon in a mazement. Mr. Ray Reed (INSET) directs play.

A boy wonder, his teen-age gang, a prosperous soap manufacturer, a brain specialist and the wonder's luckless parents and teachers - backed by hard working committees, director Ray Reed and prompter Sue Smith - came alive for the largest audience yet to see a MAHS senior play.

Jinxes which had threatened during rehearsals (measles, mumps, sunburn, a wreck, and minor confusions) did not mar the finished production as The Perfect Idiot took its place among the senior plays noted for excellence.

TRANSFORMATION FROM teen-ager to mother of teen-agers occurs as Miss Thomas carefully makesup Clara Edinger for the senior play.

Als Seniors Turn Pramatic

"OH, MRS. TENNYSON," (Clara Edinger) sobs the genius's teacher (Gail Wright) as Mr. Tennyson (Wesley Caviness) tries to comfort Mr. Banard (Bill Baber), a distressed principal, after the genius, without any apparent reason, quit all of his school activities.
"COME ON, RABBIT, this is your den, " commands Frank Lowry to Eddie Hemrick as Edmund Burke immitates a hound. The unexpected arrival of their parents provided the problem of where to put the hypnotized soap executive.

FIRST LOVE FOR boy genius Frank Lowry and his popular girl friend Scherer James adds a touch of warmth to the Senior play.

CLASS OFFICERS AND COMMITTEE members are recognized at the junior-senior prom as they form the figure of a half moon, then dance to the the me of "Deep Purple."

DANCABLE MUSIC IS played by Art Lopez and his band.

Years of anticipation, months of planning, and hours of intensive work decorating turned the Y into a fairyland of romance. A wishing well, fairy characters, and dreamy music formed the perfect setting for the most enchanting night of the year - the junior-senior prom. In their beautiful formals and white tuxedos, carefree teen-agers became enchanted princesses and princes for the evening.

Fairyland Romance At Prom

(BELOW) THEN HE HAPPILY accepts Brenda Hair's congratulatory handshake.

Foremost among important spring events is election of school leaders. Student council officers are chosen first. Five junior candidates with scholastic average of 85 and citizenship average of 90 are chosen by the students. Each nominee selects his runningmate and campaign manager. A week of campaigning including assembly speeches preceed voting by the student body. High Spots editors are elected by the rising seniors; Airmont leaders are chosen by the outgoing staff and adviser. Classes and clubs elect their leaders.

juniors Assume Leadership:

RUNNING MATE JOHNNY SANDERS IS installed as the new vice-president of the student council by Sara Midkiff, outgoing officer.

SENIORS REMINISCE over their high school years while enjoying good food and good entertainment at their class banquet.

Seniors Belderate

Each year seniors look forward to the banquet they hold prior to the prom. Only seniors and faculty members attend. Classmates furnish entertainment.

CAROLYN VAUGHN, SARA MIDKIFF, and Dianne Simmons add to the guests' delight and enjoyment at the senior banquet with a dream-time number.

EDWIN BRINKLY PREPARES to conclude the ' 59 senior banquet with a musical selection.

ARMED WITH INSTRUCTIONS from the office, consultations with parents and teachers, and his report card, Sam Monday registers with Miss McGee for his sophomore year.

AS A FEATURE of the future freshman day tour of the high school, Frances Ashburn, president of junior high student cooncil, receives a 1959 Airmont from editor Ruby Hunter.

Poring,  Filled With

TOLLIE BARBER, MRS. C. W. COCKWRELL, SYLVIA PARRIES, and Vaughn Gwyn listen attentively to Rev. Douglas Paulson as he talks at the annual Tri-Hi-Y, Hi-Y banquet.

PREPARING FOR THE 1959 State Choral Festival, glee club members Sara Midkiff and Scherer James check with Mr. Charles Johnson, director, on music to be used.
Taviety, Passes Quickly

SPRING CONCERT WAS such a success a repeat performance was given. Director Charles Johnson leads the glee club in a spring-time medley.

Suddenly Work and Preparation End-

IT'S A BIG DAY when seniors receive caps and gowns and have class pictures made. Bill Campbell, Dianne Simmons, Edmund Burke, and Sue Smith try their caps and gowns.
'OH BOY! IT'S OVER!'" The line breaks as it leaves the auditorium, and exuberant seniors relax and celebrate.

OUTSIDE, ONE LINE forms for a final practice march into the auditorium.

(RIGHT) "IF WE CAN just do as well!" Editor Pinky Hennis rejoices with outgoing editor Ruby Hunter over the Atscored by her '59 Airmont. In the last five years Airmont has received four A+ratings and one A from N. S. Y. A.

TOLLIE BARBER received a scholarship to State College for his high placement in the 1959 Talent For Service Scholarship competition.

Brings Recognition, Honor

(BELOW) 'BELIEVE IT OR NOT cows do have sinuses." Mrs. McKinney and Mrs. Hamilton discuss Sandra MonScience Fair.

UE SMITH won her classmates' votes for both the DAR Good Citizen and the Best All Around Senior

INVITED TO SING at the 1959 State NCEA meeting at Asheville, the MAHS Glee Club performs, before a realistic mountain back drop, a program including such songs as "Give Peace in Our Time" by Snow and 'Psalm 130' by Scholin.

Sudent Votes Choose Fworites

Ming and Queen of Slearts

BILL CAMPBELL and PATRICIA CARPENTER were named King and Queen of Hearts by paid vote from the candidates, SMILING CANDIDATES for Queen of Hearts - Patricia Carpenter, senior; Claudia Snow, freshman; Carol Blair, sophomore; and Libby Tesh, junior--wonder which will be crowned at the Sweetheart dance.

The noise of sewing machines, typewriters, hammers, T-V, recordings, movies, chalk on the board, pencils on paper, voices raised in explanation or argument . . . . . the quiet of individual study, reading, contemplation-all these are a part of the learning process and are included in our classroom work.

25 English Classes Stress

IN SPITE OF TOO LARGE classes, individual help must be a big factor in classroom work. Miss Holder clarifies a troublesome point in grammar for Harold Carpenter.
'I'M A GRAMMAR MAN!" readily admits Coach Shelton (RIGHT) as he discusses his favorite method of sentence analysis with Mr. Reed.

Fundumental Communication SPills

WITH RULES conveniently displayed, Ray Rodgers and Charles Branch study for their spelling lesson--a regular Monday feature for English IV.
"THIS LOOKS GOOD," muses Pinky Hennis as she browses among new books suitable for background reading in English IV.

Grammar, punctuation, spelling, written and oral composition, literature, parallel reading-- these fill the English courses with variety and work. Twenty-five classes--exclusive of journalism and commercial English--make a heavy load for five full-time English teachers and one English-math combination.

In a shrinking world of ever increasing tensions and problems, the social sciences become more and more important. Knowledge of the past, and understanding of today's problems offer the best hope for tomorrow's world. Five classes in civics, five in U. S. history, four in world history, and one in geography give us a full social science department.

BRENDA HAIR AND Mike Cooke leaf through new books displayed for the history classes by Mr. Wortman.

BECKY FRANK explains a display of the U. S. Constitution arranged by United States history classes to Morgan Johnsen, the Norwegian exchange student.

Understanding OP Past, Present, Future

SANDY McHONE (RIGHT) points out the dinosaur horn and egg included in Mr. Ramey's rock collection to Tommy White and Mary Elizabeth Herman.

KHRUSHCEV'S ROUTE TO U.S. is plotted by Mr. Ramey (CENTER) and geography and history students Rosalee Jarvis and Jay Atkins.

 on a physics experiment using the tesla coil -- one of the many projects in the Science Fair.
"LEARNING TO READ a graph is not so difficult," explains Mrs. Thomas to algebra II student Eddy Lawrence.

STUDENT EXPLANATION IS helpful to geometry class. Henry Hair proves his problem by the statement and reason method.

And Science Departments

General science, biology, chemistry, physics, senior science, algebra I, algebra II, geometry, trigonometry, general math-thirty classes excluding the general business and bookkeeping taught in the commercial department-offer challenges to students for general or advanced courses. Overflowing science labs, students feverishly working math at odd times and places attest the growing emphesis on technical courses and strain the physical accomodations provided.

GARY YORK works with a cow's brain - his entry in the science fair.

MR. HUGH TALLEY, chemical engineer and alumnus of Mount Airy High School, explains to the chemistry class the use of the slide rule, a new piece of equipment added to the science department.

GAYE TATE, typing I student, inserts paper to begin conditioning exercises.

MILDRED SEMONES translates her shorthand for the class as commercial students learn a fascínating new written language.

MRS. MAUDE COBLE, joining the commercial faculty after the resignation of Mrs. Margaret Draught, becomes acquainted with the department's equipment.

Interest Sn Foreign Languages Sncreases

JUDY MERRITT and Carolyn Miller help Mrs. Mackie select records for a Spanish lesson to aid the class in pronunciation. A new record player has been purchased for the Spanish department.

JIMMY SESSOMS exclaims 'I need only one more!" as the first year Spanish class plays Bingo using Spanish numbers.

CONSULS Jimmy Harris and Annetta Taylor plan programs for the Latin Club with Trent Harkrader, aedile; Philip Stanley, censor; Brenda Patterson, quaestor; Charles King, plebeian aedile; Mary Jo McHone, plebeian aedile; Becky Frank, quaestor; and Ann Puckett, plebeian aedile.

Large Spanish classes and this year's addition of a Latin IV class show the growing interest in language studyimportant for world understanding, broader knowledge, and linguistic skills.

Vocational Shop, Some Economics Give

Two classes in shop, one in mechanical drawing, and one in carpentry are filled to capacity each year.

The carpentry class meets for three hours daily, carries two units credit, and gives experience in

VIC OFFICERS. President, Jim Fleming; vice -president, John Martin; secretary, Roy Thomas; and treasurer, Delmar Eaton make plans for the home that the carpentry class is building at Rock Bluff Park.

(TOP LEFT) FOR THE SIXTH year the carpentry class is building a house as its major project. A carport and an electric heating system added to the usual six rooms and bath make the house more accommodating.
(LEFT) CORRECT USE OF the rip-saw is demonstrated by Mr. Williams to shop students Jerry Leftwich and W.O. Collins.

THE NEW 1959 INTERNATIONAL Travelall inspected by Bob Ander son, Mr. Williams and David Simmons, adds class and comfort to transportation of the industrial arts department. The truck formarly used is being passed on to the maintenance department.

Sewing, cooking, home planning and management, personal problems, child care--these are just some of the many important topics studied in the five home economics classes.

Work and planning pay-off for the girls during the annual fashion show and tea when they proudly model the dresses that have been worked on so pains-takingly during the year.

Home Economics students get a practical demonstration of home nursing techniques as Johnnie Mae Ferguson plays sick and Mary Helen Pruitt takes her pulse; Mary Ruth Suthpin, Reva Midkiff, and Shelby Norman observe.

PATRICIA JONES DISPLAYS her skill with the sewing machine to eighth graders Ellen Foy and Suzanne Hennis as they look over the Home economics department on Future Freshmen Day.

(ABOVE) BUSY PREPARING new books for use, library assistant Helen Buick pauses to browse and to ear-mark favorites for future reading.

AGAINST AN IMPRESSIVE modernistic backdrop the band, directed by Mr. Charles Johnson, gives an excellent performance at the annual concert.

Almost two hundred of our students participate in the music program. Chorus includes both a class, meeting one period daily, and one activity period group who could not get in the class. Band meets as a class each day.

GLEE CLUB TRIO - Carolyn Vaughn, Sara Midkiff, and Dianne Simmons - makes a last appearance at the annual spring concert.

Fill Cavied, Grousing Neads

All freshmen take health and physical education which includes both textbook and field work. Added physical training is secured by many in the various " Y " programs.

GERALDINE MONDAY directs the leaders club in an intricate routine during the Y.M.C.A's circus.

5,212 Books, 50 periodicals, pamphlets, movies, film strips, recordings, one librarian, sixteen student assistants -- these give us a library that is in constant use for reference, assigned and personal reading.

A massive testing program has been carried on this year in addition to the other guidance services.

AS PART OF THE MAHS testing program, Bernice Baldwin receives her copy of the standard test from Coach Shelton.

OUTSIDE EXPERTS ADD their knowledge to schooi instruction. Sammy Hunter questions Mr. Burt Sisk, Social Security representative from Winston-Salem, who explained Social Security to the seniors.

Mount Airy High School! Thy praises we sing!
Thy hills and thy mountains with clear echoes ring.

Loyal forever, one unbroken band -
We stand together, onward marching to fame.

High Spots Maintains High Standards

FITTING COPY AND MAKING HEADLINES require time, patience, and work. Editors Mary Oren King and Libby Resh spend many after school hours with Miss Holder (CENTER) working on High Spots. With headline board before them, Miss Holder and Elizabeth Sykes spend an evening laying out the feature page.

(BELOW) "THERE SHOULD BE another $t$ in majorettes." Sports editors Johnny Taylor and Charles Branch check galley proofs by original copy and mark corrections to be made.

CHARLES BRANCH draws up dummy on which stories, pictures, and ads must be arranged.

HEAD TYPIST for High Spots, Crystal Belton gets hours of extra experience typing corrected copy for the paper.

EDITOR LIBBY TESH and printer Donald Walker check
High Spots page make-up a test paper before the final run. After galleys are proofed and the pages set up, editors go to the Times office for a final check.
"AT LAST! It's worth all that work, isn't it!" Miss Holder and Aloma Brintle preview finished High Spots before papers are delivered to students by homerooms.

JOE GRIFFEN AND Laurie Semones check money and receipts after the annual subscription drive. Staff members take orders in homerooms.

Airmont staff members know that publishing an award-winning yearbook involves endless details. A good yearbook doesn't just happen; it is made with an amount of work that always amazes new recruits. Raising money, taking and retaking pictures, writing and re-writing copy, preparing the dummy and layout, typing, proofing, checking and rechecking --all of these go into the countless hours of work put into the production of Airmont. When one annual goes off to press, another is in the making. Staff members work in the fall, winter, summer and spring to catch the MAHS life and spirit and to try for another A plus rating such as the 1959 Airmont received.

STUDY HALL IS WORK TIME. Missy Clark, Airmont staff member, writes cut lines as Gail Allen, copy editor, carefully checks them for errors.

Sirmont Portrays
(BELOW) TO REMIND STUDENTS TO patronize yearbook advertisers, Ann Franklin displays ads on bulletin board. Ads make Airmont possible and help the business firms sell as well as build goodwill.

OVERALL PLANS FOR 1960 Airmont are settled and early pictures inspected by staff heads--Pinky Hennis, editor; Brenda Burke, business manager; Gail Allen, copy editor; and Trent Harkrader, photographer.

"That will be in the 300 's"
"Let's look in the card catalog."
Sixteen library assistants work during their study hall or activity period to help in the daily routine of the school.

They check out books, sign slips, card, shelve, inventory, type, file, prepare new books, and help students locate materials. Half of the assistants have had prior service in the library (one 3 years) and are able to train new members. Service to students and the school, a chance to become more familiar with library materials, a more informal atmosphere -- these are among assistants' compensations.
(TOP) LIBRARY ASSISTANT BRENDA KING AND Miss Simpson unpack and check books from the traveling science library. (ABOVE) RUSH HOUR IN THE LIBRARY gives assistant Norma Haymore a difficult time as she tries to cope with stacks of returned books and a line of students with varied requests.

Recreation, Service

Joint activities include the talent show, food distribution, Christmas and Easter programs, Sweetheart dance, and Monday morning devotions. The Tri-Hi-Y sponsors Homecoming and the Hi-Y sponsors Twirp season plus the refreshment stand at basketball games.

EACH WEEK BEGINS with voluntary devotions, conducted by $\mathrm{Hi}-\mathrm{Y}$ and $\mathrm{Tri}-\mathrm{Hi}-$ Y members. Robert Kirkman and Elizabeth Sykes prepare for the Monday morning devotions.

MRS. SYDNOR, Tri-Hi-Y adviser, discusses the club plans for the year with group captains, Linda Love, Nancy Welch, Jane Childress, and Nancy Cox.

JUDY PIERCE, ANN FRANKLIN and Jayne Childress wrap gifts for the Tri-Hi-Y--Hi-Y talent show winners.

TRI-HI-Y OFFICERS plan work for the coming year. Seated are president, Brenda Patterson; vice-president, Glenda Davenport; chaplain, Elizabeth Sykes; and treasurer, Annetta Taylor. Standing are secretary, Linda Hull; reporter, Betty Collins; and sergrant-atarms, Carolyn Cruise.

Programs on Roman life, customs, and mythology to supplement class work; an organizationset up in the form of a Roman government; a lively Latin week featuring a slave auction, Roman costumes, and banquet -- all these add purpose and enjoyment to the Latin Club. The club, composed of Lati॥ II and Latin IV members, with officers from the fourth-year class, meets monthly.
(TOP) "HOW MUCH AM I bid for this fine slave?" exclaims Charles King as he sells David Rowe, a slave, on the auction block to second year Latin students. ## Athletic Bluls Poost M A H S Teams

 CLUB ACTIVITIES FOR the year are discussed by officers of the Girl's Athletic Association - Annetta Taylor, president; Pinky Hennis, vice-president; Carolyn Cruise, reporter; Brenda Hair, secretary; and Libby Tesh, treasurer.

SENIORS

Mary Lou Adkins, Betty Collins, Brenda Hair, Trent Harkrader, Gail Key, Mary King, Brenda Marshall, Glenda Martin, Judy Merritt, Brenda Patterson, Mildred Semones, Elizabeth Sykes, Annetta Taylor.

ANNETTA TAYLOR, secretary; Elizabeth Sykes, vicepresident; Brenda Hair, president; and Mary Oren King, treasurer, of the Kate Barringer Chapter of the National Honor Society read the constitution together as a new year begins.

Membership of the honor society is based on scholarship, service, leadership, and character for sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Sophomores, taken in on probetionary status, may become active members when they become juniors if they maintain high standards.

NEW MEMBERS of the National Honor Society repeat the pledge prior to lighting their candles. Faye Mills, Trent Harkrader, Charles King, and Glenn Yokley are among those installed last spring.

NEW SOPHOMORE MEMBERS..

Honor Society

The society has been renamed The Kate Barringer Chapter of the National Honor Society in recognition of Mrs. Barringer's vital influence on generations of MAHS students. Since December 1958, when she resigned because of illness, we have become increasingly aware of Mrs. Barringer's contributions to our school life.

STUDENTS GLEEFULLY try out the music department's new 1960 Carry-all purchased by the Music Boosters Club. The Kiwanis Pancake Jamboree furnished more thana third of the necessary funds.
"Let's have the glee club sing!" Assemblies, church services, civic clubs and radio programs--all are enriched by the superior performances of the 74 voice
 MAHS Chorus. This year the glee club is made up of 2 groups. One group meets each day as a class and receives a one unit credit. Students whose schedules conflict with this class practice three times a week during activity period. Both groups come to night practice. This year the chorus is working to improve its rating from excellent to superior in competition performance.

Plee Club Develops Musical Alility,

THE G3.EE CLUB sings God's Trombones with contagious enthusiasm.

MR. RAMEY and Gail Wright, as Negro preacher and prayer leader in God's Trombones, add another artistic triumph to the glee club's long list of successes.

MAHS GLEE CLUB makes its last appearance in old robes. The Music Boosters Club backed acquisition of new robes.

Minowledye; Presents SArtistic Performances

MRS. CLONINGER helps behind sceens at the glee club concert by putting make-up on Jerry Gates.

GLEE CLUB PROGRAMS are taped for broadcast by local radio stations for many special occasions. Director Charles Johnson listens to playback of a recorded performance.

The 63 piece band adds melody and color to our football games, parades, concerts, and assemblies and represents us at numerous out-of town functions.

ALWAYSCOLORFUL and artistic, the half time show by the band is an anticipated and talked-about part of each home football game.
(RIGHT) PHILIP STANLEY AND Mary King entertain at the band concert with a special selection. Their accompanist is Camille Combs.

Peass End Football Ceason

Ronald Dollyhigh, Bear co-captain, hands off to Bobby Dean, right-halfback, in a summer practice session. Both players have been outstanding in the 1959 season.

BOBBY DEAN UNLASHES 17 yard run against North Surry in Mt. Airy's opener of the '58-' 59 season--a preview of the style that made him MAHS high scorer and all-conference selection.

With a young, inexperienced line and a fast, experienced backfield, the Bears got off to a fast start. After being slowed by injuries they hit the win column again to finish with a 6-3-1 over all record and a fourth place in conference Showing they were better than conference standing indicated, the Bears shared equally on the All Conference team with Morehead, Conference Champion.

Notes of interest: Johnny Sanders picked as best defensive player in AAA Conference . . . . Bears only team to score on Children's Home during regular season . ... One extra point failure in the 6-6 tie with Reidsville dropped MAHS from second tofourth in Conference. . . . Sophomores dominated the team with 14 members to the seniors' 7 and the juniors' 6 .

RONALD WHITAKER warms up before game with North Surry.

(BELOW) FOR THE THIRD STRAIGHT year, the Bruinettes brought home the girls basketball championship. Coach Shelton and Captain Judy Shelton show the trophy to students at assembly.

Teams Display Winning Ways

Mount Airy boasted three championship cage teams last year. The Little Bears, averaging 54 points per game, won the state championship in the High Point tourney.
Bruinettes gained the conference championship - highest honor in girls play. Conference standing and district championship sent a fine squad of Bruins to the state tournament.
The Bears bowed to Clinton 53-47 after a losing bout with influenza.

COACH MOIR and Captain Frank Lowery happily receive their well-earned trophy and nets after winning the District five AA tournament.

DISTRICT AA FINALS in Winston's Reynolds gymnasium, Trent Harkreader and two Gray players grasp a rebound as Clave Hamlin reaches in vain and Frank Lowery watches tensely. The 49-45 win sent MAHS to the state play-offs in Durham.

Though missing Cleve Hamlin's height and scoring ability and Frank Lowry's spark plug vitality, the Bears have nine lettermen returning -- three first stringers: Mike Cooke, a $6^{\prime} 2^{\prime \prime}$ guard and probably one of the Bears' finest shots; Trent Harkrader, a $6^{\prime} 2^{\prime \prime}$ leading defensive man and consistant scorer; Freddy Goins, 5'11', an outstanding floorman.

Sophomore ranks are bolstered by four boys who helped bring home the State J-V trophy last year.

With most of the Bruinettes' opponents playing only intramural ball this year and only Morehead left in the girls' conference, the team that has brought home three consecutive championships with a record of 54 wins and 4 losses has had difficulty in making a schedule.

With the loss of five regulars, the Bruinettes still have seventeen lettermen returning and look like a team that can hold its own.

The inexperienced Bears, with no seniors and few returns from the previous year, finished the ' 59 baseball season in class AA Group I cellar. Five of the nine lashes were one point heartbreakers.

Tommy Childress pitched the two wins. Mike Cooke and Bud Sumner were leading hitters with .324 and .323 records. Mike Cooke and Ronald Dollyhigh made the AA all-star team.

The bustling stores and their enthusiastic personnel play a large partinour life. Many students hold jobs in our friendly downtown businesses and more do their own budgeting and often guide the family buying. We enjoy a mutually advantageous association: ads build present and future customers and good will for business; they help the school publish an annual.
Without our pleasant business associates the yearbook would be impossible. We ask you, the students, to observe this example of their interest in our life and to patronize our friends.

Study, Friends, Fun Fill Ow Year

'HEADACHES BY THE MILLION" end as Airmont staff members -- editor, Pinky Hennis; photographer, Trent Harkrader; copy editor, Gail Allen; and business manager, Brenda Burke -- pack final material for the publisher.

Our Final Word

In this ninth edition of Airmont we have tried to present a clear picture of school life in a town at the "foot of the mountain."

The Airmont staff is grateful to all of our friends--the students, faculty, and advertisers--who have made this edition possible.

We hope you will cherish this yearbook always and continue to enjoy the memories of MAHS which it holds.

I've certainly expoyed benowing yow o goofing off with yow in homeroom. Althaceope a don't like the name spiller Shave fum in homeroom. Whap to be your friend again hest year, although, sock some of the things it have to ar for yow (nates, gundor-Senior prom invitations, tile) d fist don't know. I use bidoleng of course. Lats' of luck to a crazy, but cute bay.

Lave,
Hush
Merge.
It woken mast fun this year being in your study hall is e have had an unful time trying te beys Mrs. Hamilton from catching us. although she dial a couple of times. You are a surest, but ray "guy". Best if lucks in the future", but trey to beys your head. a friend,

Lexida Bowman
Gene NKerege,

 a co ducking bout
